

Board receives petitions

By Bill Milligan

GRANITE CITY — Petitions signed by more than 250 residents were turned over to the School Board Tuesday night.

The petitions asked two things of the School Board:

• "Form a citizens' committee to help improve relations between Superintendent Max Redmond and the School Board."

• "Give the public more time to evaluate Redmond's performance as superintendent."

Petitions were first circulated at a June 12 public forum called in response to School Board President Dewey Melton's request that Redmond leave the district.

Controversy between the superintendent and the board arose when Redmond refused to recommend the board's choices for District 9 jobs.

More than 250 people attended the June 12 public forum.

A lot of people were there for blood," said petition spokesman Dave Schermer. "Cooler heads prevailed. A couple of years ago people got behind a bond issue for this district. A lot of the same faces were there at the public forum."

Schermer said that in the time between the public meeting and the presentation of petitions, the School Board had done a lot to steal the citizen group's thunder.

Schermer said the board, in announcing its intention to work with Dr. Redmond at a special meeting June 23, had slowed the petition gathering process.

Without that announcement, Schermer said, there would have been many more signatures on the petitions.

"I suggest to you that the public is only concerned with quality education," Schermer said.

Schermer asked the board to consider another nationwide search to find a replacement for Redmond should he leave the district.

Redmond was hired as the result of a nationwide search for a superintendent conducted by the Illinois School Board Association at the end of the 1984-85 school year.

Redmond began working with the district in July 1985.

Schermer also requested that contract talks between Redmond and the school district begin before the state's April 1 cutoff date next year.

School Board members had no comment concerning the petitions, which were presented in the public comment portion of the public meeting.

Depot role could expand

By Valerie Evenden

Some energetic nudging by congressional leaders, strongly supported by state and area politicians and civic authorities, may make the difference on whether the Quad-City Area gets a huge economic boost in the not too distant future.

The St. Louis Area Support Center in Granite City is a strong contender as the site of a revitalized Army Reserve Readiness Training Center (ARTC), a multi-million-dollar project.

JOHN O. MARSH Jr., secretary of the Army, is expected to announce his decision on the site selection within the next six months.

SLASC's central location in the continental United States, positioned at the hub of all major transportation networks, is expected to weigh heavily in favor of the proposed development of a new Readiness Training Center here.

Military and civilian personnel who work in support of the U. S. Army Reserve would receive management, supply, payroll and administrative training at the proposed facility, coming to the center from all sections of the nation.

CURRENTLY, 7,400 students each year are being served through the present ARTC Training Center located at Fort McCoy in Wisconsin.

The student enrollment figure is expected to double by 1990, Army authorities project.

The Fort McCoy center's 130-member staff with prior authorization to expand to 174 people, would be relocated to the new center.

AN ARTC STAFF member makes an average salary of $25,000 per year, indicating an average annual payroll of $3.4 million.

Students attending classes, staying from a week to two weeks at a time, also would be spending money in the community.

The economic impact of such a facility on the entire metropolitan St. Louis region in terms of housing, buying power and residual benefits, not to mention jobs — is not lost on community leaders.

SLASC in Granite City became one of 10 contenders from among 100 initial site proposals submitted after a June 1985 decision by U. S. Army Forces Command at 4 heat relief stations open

By Donna Kimbro

With temperatures reaching the high 90s and possibly over the 100-degree mark this week, residents who do not have fans or air-conditioners are being invited to go to any of four emergency heat relief stations now being set up in the Quad-City Area.

Danny Sipes, emergency service and disaster coordinator for the city of Madison, announced heat relief areas were opened at both Madison city recreation centers on Wednesday.

MADISONIANS are invited to go to the centers, located at Seventh Street and Lee Avenue and at 901 W. Madison St., to escape the high temperatures outdoors.

Both facilities will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and cold drinks will be distributed free of charge.

Volunteers are needed to assist with the project and may register to help by calling the Madison Recreation Center at 451-1440, Sipes said.

Capt. Curtiss Hartley of the Salvation Army, 3007 East 23rd St., said people may go to that facility daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the heat wave. Cold drinks and snacks will be available but no meals will be served.

RESIDENTS OF VENICE may use the basement at the City Hall, Broadway and Klein Street, as a heat relief center during the day.

Arnold Jackson, Venice Park District manager, said he will recommend to the park board at tonight's meeting that the Park District Recreation Center on Broadway be opened to the public during the hot weather.

Alderman re-dialing effort to hang up telephone tax

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

GRANITE CITY — The City Council hung up on those who want to remove the so-called telephone tax last August, but 6th Ward Alderman Woody Moed is calling back with a new effort.

Moed said he will re-introduce an ordinance to abolish the tax at the July 22 council meeting. Included in his proposal will be a provision that the tax won't end until fiscal 1988.

The public overwhelmingly voted in April 1985 to disconnect the 5 percent telephone tax, but most aldermen ignored the non-binding referendum and voted to keep the tax.

DUI charged after accident

GRANITE CITY — An Edwardsville man has been charged with driving under the influence of alcohol following an auto accident involving a Granite City woman Tuesday.

Allen Pereira, 32, was also charged with improper lane usage and driving with a revoked license, Illinois State Police said.

PEREIRA'S VEHICLE collided with an auto, driven by Laura J. Mann, 27, of 1707 Garfield Ave., at Illinois 203 (Edwardsville Road) and 21st Street, Granite City.

Mann was southbound in the passing lane of 203 when the crash occurred at 1:55 p.m. Tuesday.

Pereira, who had been driving north in the right lane, attempted to pass an unidentified car when he lost control of his vehicle, crossed the center line of the road and collided with the left front of Mann's car, police said.

Both drivers were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Mann suffered fractures of the jaw, cheekbone and left arm and several teeth were knocked out. A number of other teeth also were loosened by the crash.

She was in surgery for two hours Tuesday to correct the jaw injury and additional surgery on her cheekbone is scheduled, a family member said.

Pereira was admitted to the coronary care unit of the medical center. He appeared to have suffered extensive injuries and was bleeding profusely.

Zoning issue raises concern

Special meeting in Chouteau slated

GRANITE CITY — More than 80 county residents do not know what is being done with a complaint about a neighbor.

Repeated efforts to reach the assistant state's attorney who reportedly handles zoning cases, Nelson Metz, were unsuccessful during the day Tuesday, and throughout the day and into the evening on Wednesday.

One of those concerned about the property, Gene Jones, said he tried several times two weeks ago to reach the state's attorney on the issue but calls were not returned.

He said he is unsure if the office is doing anything with the matter.

Because there is a lack of information, Jones and 80 other St. Thomas Road-area residents called for a special meeting of the Chouteau Township Board.

The meeting is slated for 7 p.m. July 28 at the Township Community Center at 697A N. Thorgate Drive.

Included in the petition for the meeting is a request for attendance from representatives of the state's attorney's office and the county zoning office.

Jones said residential property at 1142 St. Thomas Road is being used for commercial purposes. Efforts to confirm the allegation with the state's attorney's office were unsuccessful.

A sight inspection of the property showed Tuesday that a large tent and a tractor trailer were in the yard.

The petition signed by the 81 residents states, "We plead with the (town) Board to adopt a resolution at this meeting for enforcement of current county laws with the right to sue violators or to pass ordinances governing same with enforcement on the Township level."

The issue was reviewed earlier this year by the Madison County Building, Environmental and Zoning Department. In a letter addressed to John Kampman Sr. of 1142 St. Thomas Road, department administrator Paul T. Hawkins stated the property was the source for many complaints due to its condition and unlicensed vehicles on the property, and that the property is apparently being used for business purposes.

The letter further states: "This (letter) is to inform you of the violations... Failure on your part to comply will result in legal action being forthcoming from this Department."

Miller offered the following information to clarify the proposed law:

• The bill would restrict annexations by co-terminous townships such as Granite City. In a co-terminous township, city and township borders are alike.

• The bill would restrict a co-terminous township's effort to annex into another township. In

Governor's ink could blot annexation

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

GRANITE CITY — The governor's pen is being nudged by Nameoki Township officials while Granite City officials try to keep him from signing annexation legislation.

Having received Granite City Steel consent, the city plans to annex the company's coke plant on July 22. Nameoki Township is fighting to keep the plant because it represents about 25 percent of the township's taxes.

During executive session Monday, Nameoki officials advised attorney Irwin Slate to seek an injunction to stall the annexation until after the governor signs the bill. He will report his findings to them today at 4 p.m.

Calls from Nameoki officials to the governor's office has speeded the bill's review process. Previously expected to be signed in early August, it could now be signed sooner.

"We put it on the fast track for review," said Terry Barnich, legal counsel to the governor. "We've gotten a lot of calls in the last couple of days. They're asking us to sign it before the 22nd of July."

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs is hopeful.

"I think we've begged him (the governor) enough — maybe he'll sign it," Briggs said Wednesday. Being in both Nameoki Township and Granite City would undermine one of the expressed intentions of Granite City Steel in seeking annexation: "It will allow us to deal with just one government body, one utilities district."

News of Nameoki Township's efforts to block the annexation angered Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

"The people out there are throwing roadblocks into the future of this area," he said Wednesday. "They're just protecting their own little kingdoms and don't care about the whole area."

Cruse told Barnich Wednesday that the bill should be vetoed not signed. The mayor requested that Barnich call National Steel so that the company's interest in being annexed gets consideration.

Cruse said increasing the city's assessed valuation would mean, among other things, more industrial revenue bonds could be offered to attract business. Nameoki Township has little to offer to attract new business and, by trying to keep the coke plant, could hinder the city's ability to bring jobs to this area, Cruse said.

Nameoki Township Trustee Norm Hall said township officials want to continue to serve township residents and losing the blast furnace would hamper the effort.

"It would greatly curtail the services we can provide," Hall said.

The bill takes effect when signed. The governor is expected to sign it in its present form.

Barnich said he does not know if the governor will sign before July 22.

Annexation law clarified

GRANITE CITY — The co-terminous township annexation law could be signed any day, but few understand it, said George Miller, Illinois Township Association president.

Miller offered the following information to clarify the proposed law:

• The bill would restrict annexations by co-terminous townships such as Granite City. In a co-terminous township, city and township borders are alike.

• The bill would restrict a co-terminous township's effort to annex into another township. In

District names officers during reorganization

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Officers for 1986-87 were named Monday at the annual meeting of Tri-City Regional Port District commissioners.

Commissioners selected Melvin Wilmsmeyer to be board chairman again next year. He is chairman of First Granite City National Bank.

Nominations and selections of board officers were made unanimously. Selected as secretary for next year was Homer Huber, and treasurer will be Dale Arnette.

The board again appointed General Manager Robert Wydra and board attorney Randall Robertson.

"I guess we get the job for another year," Wilmsmeyer said after his election.

The port district is currently involved in expansion of its freight handling capability and acquisition of excess federal property that is currently part of the St. Louis Area Support Center (formerly the Granite City Army Depot).

Commissioners' first act of business was to establish a 10-cent tariff for bulk handling of whole grains.

Bulk Services Corp., the company which presently handles grain shipments at the port, will pay the tariff on each ton of grain it ships for the next two years.

The company handles an estimated 400,000 tons of grain per year. The tariff could raise as much as $40,000 per year for the district.

The district agreed to purchase 42-foot concrete blocks from the Klueber Brothers Construction Co., Hamel, Ill. The blocks will be used to create two storage areas inside specially-built grain storage domes at the port.

The blocks will cost $25,830.

The board accepted a bid from Midway Equipment Co., of Fenton, Mo., and purchased two buckets to be used on a large backhoe purchased by the port district.

The Midway bid was nearly $3,000 more expensive than a low bid by Allied Construction Co. of St. Louis, but Midway's buckets were of more durable steel than those available through Allied, said Jerry Lavelle, Port District engineer.

The district awarded C.D. Peters Construction Co., of Granite City, a $2,645 contract for demolition of several properties adjacent to Port District lands.

It also approved construction easements for Edicam, Inc., of Warwick, R.I., to install sewers and other utilities as well as a construction road.

Lavelle said Edicam wants to leave open the possibility of using Slough Road for daily use by an estimated 10 to 15 tank trucks once the facility begins operations.

Granting the easement will enable the district to extend sewer lines several hundred yards beyond its present terminus and eventually save the district money when it wants to develop adjacent lands.

Also approved was the preliminary reading of an agreement between the Port District, Granite City and the Illinois Department of Transportation to construct a traffic light at the intersection of Illinois 3 and Rock Road.

"This light could save a lot of lives through the years," said Arnette after the first reading of the resolution.

IDOT studies show the intersection has the location of at least four fatal accidents, Wydra said.

"We're happy to see the light going in," Wydra said. "There is a depression in the southbound lane that hides traffic from that direction, especially when weeds are high."

IDOT figures indicate the cost of signalization to be $23,000 each for the City and Port District. The state will pay $46,000 for the lights. The city will pay the cost of electricity, Wydra said.

Tax hang-up

Whitmer in August 1985 was among those who successfully argued for the tax. He reiterated his position Tuesday when he said it helped enable the city to propose adding 13 jobs to the fiscal 1987 payroll.

The 13 jobs could cost the city approximately $260,000 compared to the approximately $250,000 the tax annually produces.

The council has changed by one member since the 7-6 vote in August to keep the tax. In that council session, one of those who had previously voted to remove the tax, 3rd Ward Alderman Pat Schuman, was absent so an expected 7-7 tie did not occur.

If the same thinking exists on the council as it did in August, the newcomer, 4th Ward Alderman Tom Hewlett, will play a deciding role in the tax vote. Hewlett replaced Philip Miller, who voted to keep the tax.

"My initial reaction is I'm going to have to see what the telephone tax means to the revenue of Granite City," Hewlett said Wednesday. "Personally, I'd like to see as few taxes as we possibly can."

Hewlett said he is unsure how vital the tax revenue will be to services in the fiscal 1988 budget and he will examine the matter.

"The fact that the voters turned it down, that means a lot to me," he said.

School board amends policies

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Policies regarding health and life insurance coverage and age requirements for entering kindergarten have been amended by District 9.

The district amended its policy on insurance hoping to attract additional quality educators to the district from other districts.

Because the state has mandated earlier starting dates for children entering kindergarten during the next three school years, District 9 has amended its requirements in an effort to keep pre-school children in the same classes.

The policy on insurance coverage was amended to include employees who come from outside the district.

Prior to the policy change, new employees were covered by District 9 insurance only after they began regular employment. The change allows new employees to be covered by District 9 at their own expense.

Once the school year begins, the employee would be entitled to full benefits under the plan.

The policy came about after it was discovered that recently hired Prather School Principal Mike Loftus would be without insurance coverage for 2½ months while awaiting the start of the 1986-87 school year.

Loftus, who worked last year with the Clayton School District, was concerned about not having coverage during the summer months.

"This is something that could affect our ability to attract good employees in the future," said board member Monroe Worthen at a policy committee meeting.

New employees are eligible to participate in the district's health insurance plan provided they pass a physical examination and they are not eligible for coverage with a prior employer.

Age waivers for kindergarten enrollment will be adjusted over the next three school years.

Children born between Nov. 1 and Dec. 1, 1981, will be eligible for the age waiver during the 1986-87 school year.

Children born between Oct. 1 and Oct. 1, 1982, will be eligible for the waiver during the 1987-88 school year.

Children born between Sept. 1 and Oct. 1, 1983, will be eligible for the waiver during the 1988-89 school year.

State law requires that children entering kindergarten reach a developmental age of 5 years prior to a Sept. 1 starting date in 1988. After that year, no waivers will be granted.

The sliding enrollment schedule is meant to provide parents and school systems across the state time to adjust to the Sept. 1 enrollment deadline.

New jobs and the telephone tax

The city's proposed budget calls for creating 13 jobs.

The jobs would cost taxpayers $263,550.68, not including such "hidden" costs as Social Security and insurance. And that's just in the first year. After that, add raises.

The jobs to be created are an assistant to the mayor at $20,000 per year, two new policemen at $48,561, three police dispatchers at $32,800, four firemen at $27,189.68, a public works director at $35,000 and two technicians in the engineering department at $30,000.

Some aldermen also favor making the civil defense director's job full time.

The city has several problems. The city has street problems. The assessed valuation of city property is down, making it necessary to utilize higher rates to maintain the same level of income. In the midst of these problems, adding to the city's payroll is proposed.

The 1985 Granite City Disaster Preparedness Plan does provide for handling disasters, including evacuations. The part-time civil defense job was sufficient to produce the plan, with the help of volunteers. Perhaps more effort to recruit volunteers, rather than make the job full time, is an alternative.

Are the proposed salaries more important than fixing sewer lines that have, in at least one case, required bypass pumping for five years? Perspective is important in answering the question.

Two new policemen, three new dispatchers and four new firemen add up to more personnel to maintain public safety. They also add up to an annual payroll expense of $178,550.68. There have been no reports to this office of city firemen or police being unable to do the job because they are undermanned and all police and firemen just received pay raises. The two departments survived without the personnel last year, but maybe the strain was too much for this to continue.

The public works director is a new job at $35,000 per year. The hefty salary is supposed to bring to the city someone who can coordinate efforts of city department heads. The result, again, is designed to improve city service.

Two technicians in the engineering department, at a cost of $30,000, are also in the budget. Better service? Even some aldermen raised concern Tuesday night that the department wasn't utilizing present manpower.

An assistant to the mayor means $20,000 per year. The mayor, unlike some politicians in this area, puts in a full day's work for his pay. His phone is constantly ringing and there is a steady stream of visitors to his office. And he occasionally works nights. The job replaces one occupied before Von Dee Cruse became mayor. Even so...

Perhaps creating 13 jobs is what the public wants. But one has to wonder. In the April 1985 election, the public voted to end the telephone tax. The tax brings in about $250,000 annually, which is close to the same amount that will be spent on the 13 jobs.

The public vote was not heeded by the majority of council members. They voted to keep the tax. They'll probably vote to add the 13 jobs and maybe make the civil defense job full time.

Certainly, the more money the city has the more service it can provide. But it seems important to consider that taxpayers pay the bills and that they may be willing to settle for Chevrolet rather than Cadillac service.

Do things go better with coke?

Granite City is struggling with Nameoki Township for Granite City Steel's coke plant. The township does not want to lose an estimated 25 percent of its tax base to the city.

The city wants the tax dollars and greater ability to issue industrial revenue bonds to be gained from annexing the plant.

Both sides have valid points, but it's Granite City Steel's point that should matter most. The company wants the blast furnace in Granite City.

The company desires to deal with one less governmental body. Presently, with some of its facilities in Granite City and Nameoki Township, it must negotiate sensitive issues such as property assessments with many groups. Such issues could be simplified by reducing the number of parties involved.

The company wants city services. A full-time police force, a full-time fire department and other such services are an advantage of being part of the city that the steel company has not been the first to notice.

Extremely important, even to Nameoki Township residents, should be that the company also stated being part of the city would "enhance our ability to attract potential users of our product to locate in this area."

If being in the city would help attract new business to this area, then everyone should support that move because everyone in this area, not just Granite City, could benefit.

Rather than hinder the company, Nameoki Township officials might want to consider how to facilitate the move.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse suggested some months back that a merger of local governments could help all. Not much attention seems to have been paid to the idea. Pontoon Beach went ahead with its own annexation plans and may find itself fighting at least one future lawsuit involving an important location. Nameoki Township faces losing a major portion of its tax base.

On review, a merger of these governmental bodies may deserve more serious consideration than it has received. The alternative to merging thus far has produced land grabbing that puts the area's future on an uncertain path rather than on the path of controlled economic growth.

Tax, debt policies led to Depression

To the editor:

Illinois had a remarkable congressman who served in the U.S. House from 1931 to 1941. His name was Kent Keller and he lived in Ava, a Southern Illinois community of about 800 population.

Recently someone gave me a mimeographed statement written by him — and apparently mimeographed by him — that is unfortunately undated. It was written after he left Congress. There is reference to 1945 in the document. My guess is that it was written in 1946, but it could have been written in late 1945.

What he had to say has a ring of familiarity to it.

Keller reviewed the fiscal policies of the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations and found they helped to bring on the Great Depression by providing tax breaks for the wealthy rather than facing the problems of the nation's indebtedness and people in trouble.

Keller observes, "Our first obligation is to pay our debts and continue to do so and only reduce taxes as we reduce our debts. That appears to me to be common sense and good financing."

That makes as much sense to day as when he wrote it — and is followed even less today than during the times he complained about.

In 1921, the Harding Administration and Congress decided that, rather than face up to the indebtedness caused by World War I, they would substantially cut taxes.

In 1924, Congress voted another income tax reduction rather than deal with the debt, including almost $4 billion in bonds to corporations for taxes they had already paid.

In 1926, the Coolidge Administration decided another tax reduction was in order, rather than doing something about the debt. The inheritance and gift taxes were virtually repealed.

In 1928, the Coolidge Administration and Congress again reduced taxes and on Dec. 14, 1929 — while the nation teetered on the brink of financial chaos — another income tax reduction was passed. Those five major tax reductions in the face of unpaid federal indebtedness were primarily made to the wealthiest Americans.

That totaled $35 billion in tax reductions — a large sum for those days — while state and local taxes were being forced up almost 300 percent, in part because of a decline in federal services, and an unwillingness of the federal government to face our problems.

While these federal tax reductions were being voted, more than a million farms were foreclosed. We had the money to please the wealthiest of our citizens, but not the money to help farmers in great need.

Because we refused to reduce the national debt substantially, too much federal money went to pay interest rather than help the people who were out of work or who had other great needs.

Cong. Keller made the point that these flawed policies led to the Great Depression.

The theory that helping the wealthiest of Americans will ultimately benefit all Americans did not work in practice.

The idea that it was wise just to ignore the federal debt, and let someone else pay for it eventually, turned out to be a policy of folly. There is a familiar sound to all of this.

Will we learn from history?

Ed Higgins, Granite City

"Yes, I was kind of surprised. I thought the National League had a better chance to win. I guess it was the early scoring that got them (American League players) down."

Was AL win a surprise?

Were you surprised by the American League's 3-2 win over the National League in Tuesday night's All-Star game played in Houston?

Robert Jarrett, Granite City

"Yes, it sure was. I don't watch baseball much, but I happened to watch last night. I guess it was about their (American League's) turn to win."

L.A. Nunnery, Granite City

"Yes. Isn't that just the second time they won in 15 years? I wanted them to win. It's about time."

City offers services at bargain price

To the editor:

Recently Mayor Von Dee Cruse announced his desire to pursue an active annexation program. Since that time, questions have been raised by concerned township residents as to the effect on them in terms of dollars versus services.

In the attempt to stop the spread of misinformation, I would like to set the record straight. Consider these points:

- The value of the average home in Nameoki Township is $41,500.
- The tax rate in Granite City is $7.332. In Nameoki Township it is $7.313.

- The property tax on a $41,500 house in Granite City is $1,014. In Nameoki Township, it is $1,011, a $3 difference.
- Nameoki Township is part of the Madison County Sewer District and property is taxed at $1.068 for each $100 assessed valuation for this until 1992.

- Because of this sewer tax, upon annexing to Granite City the owner of a $41,500 home will see a temporary tax increase of $147.
- This temporary increase in taxes will be offset by free trash collection, so the total cost increase will be reduced to $66 per year or just $5.50 per month.
- For this temporary $5.50 increase, they will receive:

- A city government that responds to their problems.
- The security of 50 full-time policemen.
- The safety of 49 full-time firemen.
- Trained emergency technicians who are 3 to 5 minutes away.
- Regular street cleaning, repair and maintenance.
- Free use of the library.
- Reduced fees for parks and recreation facilities.

We think that is a lot for $5.50.

Now is time to get ready for school

To the editor:

Parents, are you ready for school?

No, summer vacation has not been postponed. But if you have a child who will start school for the first time in the fall, now is the time to get ready.

Yes, I know you have all the medical records completed — or you have made the necessary appointments — and up-to-date and the birth certificate was verified at kindergarten registration time. That's great.

To help Johnnie or Susie adjust to being away from home and in a new situation, perhaps for the first time, there are several important things you can do now.

1. Teach your child his first and last name and have him practice saying it so that the teacher can understand it. Baby talk is NOT cute in school.

2. Be certain that your child knows where he lives — not the color of the house or the fact that he lives next door to Jimmy — the number of the house or the box number and the name of the street or road.

3. It is the intelligent parent who teaches his child his telephone number, also. There is nothing more frightening to a child who is ill or hurt than to have school personnel concerned because there is no way to reach parents.

4. Take Johnnie or Susie to see the school building. In the summer most buildings are open during the day. If you call ahead of time, you may be able to take your child to see the room(s) he will need to find in the fall. A strange new building can be frightening for the first time.

5. Take a ride on a bus, if your children are to be bus riders. Talk about good safety rules while riding the bus with other children. Let your child play "bus driver" at home with a few chairs so he can practice before the first day of school arrives.

6. Have a positive attitude about school. Don't sugar-coat school, but don't scare your child with horror stories about it either.

Remember: You are your child's most important teacher. Your feelings about school will tell your child much more than any words you use. Make your child's school experiences the best you can.

Opposes taxing of health insurance

To the editor:

I am in possession of a notice that Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois has been a nonprofit and tax exempt plan since its inception. This fact has helped to keep our premiums affordable.

However, this is now being threatened by a provision in the House version of tax reform which would tax Blue Cross and Blue Shield for the first time.

U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon has agreed to oppose this tax. We need to support his efforts and show our appreciation by writing him, expressing our thanks and letting him know how important it is to do everything possible to hold down the cost of health care protection.

Whether you are covered by Blue Shield and Blue Cross Insurance or some other nonprofit company, you should be interested in this legislation, readers.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield administers our Medicare and a change would affect our future insurance rates.

Write to: The Honorable Alan Dixon, United States Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

May I take this opportunity to thank you for your cooperation by your willingness to print anything which might be of help to those on low- and fixed-income as well as any information concerning the welfare of the elderly.

Lawyer still hopeful after fire guts home

By Bill Babby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Though a fire extensively damaged the interior of his home, John Hopkins still has hope.

Hopkins, a local attorney, said he plans to completely refurbish the inside of his home that was gutted by a fire July 4.

The fire did between $60,000 and $70,000 damage to the interior of the home located at 2309 Delmar Ave., he said.

HOPKINS and his wife, Margaret, who have lived in the house for seven years, were at a fireworks display at Wilson Park when the fire started, he said. They discovered the fire shortly after they returned home at 10:15 p.m.

"The wife and I smelled smoke," Hopkins said. "We assumed it was from the fireworks."

About 15 minutes later, Hopkins and his wife began to see smoke. "I went to the attic and all I could see was a ball of flame," he said.

HOPKINS responded in about three minutes to the fire, caused by some electrical wiring, Hopkins said.

"The fire department was very good," he said. About 30 members of the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society also responded to help Hopkins and his wife remove furniture from the home to keep it from being damaged by smoke and water.

Hopkins is president of the society. "THEY HELPED US save most of the furniture," he said. "They came from one end of Delmar to the other. There were some from Cleveland (Boulevard) and State (Street)."

Since the fire, society members and friends have brought food and drinks while the Hopkins begin the task of repairing their home.

"That's one side of Granite City most people don't see," he said. "It's a good reflection on the neighborhood as a whole."

The entire attic and part of the roof were burned, Hopkins said. The rest of the home was severely water-damaged. He added, "The things that couldn't be replaced," his three children, were saved from the fire.

THE HELP of his neighbors and friends has given Hopkins hope and determination to stay and rebuild the interior of the home, built in 1900 for one of the first mayors of Granite City.

"Margaret and I are more grateful than our words can convey that we have such good neighbors," he said. "It's really the only good part of the whole thing."

3 centers here for cooling-fund requests

Three local sites have been designated to handle requests for cooling grants.

Nelson Hagauer, chairman of the Madison County Board, has announced that Madison County has been awarded cooling funds under the Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program (IHEAP).

Hagauer said the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs has awarded the county $64,131 to administer the cooling program for Madison County. The county estimates that approximately 500 households could be served.

Starting in July, the Madison County Community Development Department is taking and processing applications from all interested applicants who reside in Madison County.

The cooling program is limited to income-eligible households which contain a member with a documented medically-necessitated need for cooling. The existence of the medical condition must be certified by a qualified medical practitioner.

Persons wishing to apply for cooling assistance are to contact the nearest intake site in their area listed below. Also, applicants must provide income documentation for the past 90 days for all household members, a current utility bill, Social Security numbers for all household members and a doctor's statement.

Completing an application for cooling assistance does not guarantee that funding will be available or that a household will receive assistance.

Persons having questions regarding the IHEAP program may contact the Madison County Community Development Energy Assistance Office at 622-6200, extension 5105, or the State of Illinois Energy Hotline, 1-800-252-8643.

Applications may be submitted only on Tuesdays or Thursdays, and by appointment only.

For District 2 (Granite City, Madison and Venice area), the application offices are: Madison County Township Hall, 4250 Highway 162, 931-1230, hours of 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Co-ordinated Youth Services, 1254 Niedringhaus Ave., 876-2383 or 452-1380, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Urban League, Venice area office, W. 3rd and Jackson streets, Madison, 877-8890, 9:30 to 12 noon and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Diabetes classes set July 21, 22

By Deborah L. Williams

What disease do 1 million Americans have and don't know it?

The answers to this and other questions are available through St. Elizabeth Medical Center's diabetes classes.

Diabetes now affects more than 11 million Americans. Approximately 125,000 persons in the Metro-East area alone are afflicted with this disease.

About half of this population, according to the National Institute of Health, does not know it has diabetes. Left undiagnosed, diabetes can lead to such serious complications as blindness, kidney disease, gangrene, heart attack and stroke.

For those people interested in learning more about this disease, diabetes classes are being offered free to the community on Monday, July 21, and Tuesday, July 22, in the Wiseman Room at SEMC from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Classes will feature a registered dietitian who will discuss nutrition, dining out, sweeteners and meal planning using the "exchange system."

Speakers will include Carol Henrichs, a registered nurse and diabetes educator at SEMC, who will provide a general overview of the disease including symptoms, management and complications; and Mike Weaver, an SEMC pharmacist, discussing insulin and oral antidiabetic agents.

"There is still no cure for diabetes," said Henrichs. "However, its complications can be greatly reduced by education and careful management and control of the disease."

"Probably there is no other disease in which it is as important that the patient be taught all the factors involved in its management and treatment."

"Patients, their families and friends should understand that diabetes have to continue treatment all their lives, and that they must abide strictly by everything taught to them."

For more information on these classes, the SEMC Nursing Service Department can be called at 798-3485.

Q. I'm interested in investing in U.S. Treasury bills. Can you give me some information concerning tax status, where they are available, etc.?

A. Treasury, or "T-bills" are exempt from state and local taxes, however, not from federal taxes. A minimum treasury bill purchase is $10,000, with additional purchases in multiples of $5,000. Rates on treasury bills are set by the Federal Reserve Board each Monday, with an immediate discount. When you purchase a T-bill, you purchase it for less than the face value. At maturity, which is up to twelve months, the federal government will send you a check for the face value of the T-bill. As an option, you can elect to "roll over" your money into a new bill automatically. T-bills are available through the Federal Reserve Board and through your bank. Your banker will be glad to discuss the advantages of treasury bills with you, as well as all other investments available through your bank.

Girl experiences German life

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — An 11-month stay in West Germany has given a Granite City girl a learning experience she'll always remember. Cynthia Brown, 17, a senior at Granite City High School, left for West Germany Aug. 23, 1985, as an exchange student through Rotary International and the Granite City Rotary Club. She returned to Granite City July 2.

During her 11 months in West Germany, Brown, daughter of Ed and Frances Brown, stayed with two host families: the Kintzel family in Wildeshausen and the Schnabel family in Schmilde.

THE FAMILY PLAYS an important part in a German youth's lifestyle, Brown said.

"They're more into their families," she said. "They didn't do a lot of things on the side. The schools didn't offer the activities."

Her adjustment to German life was fairly easy, she said.

"At first it's hard to get used to," she said. "You have to adjust to their ways and vice versa. But you get to love them. They make you feel like you're one of the family."

MUCH OF HER schooling in Germany was the same as here, Brown said, with classes such as mathematics, biology, history and music.

However, there were some differences, she added.

School was in session from 8 a.m. until 1:20 p.m. — Monday through Saturday. Class sizes were smaller, with about 20 students in a class, she said. And the same classes weren't taught every day.

Her learning experiences didn't stop in the classroom.

BROWN'S SECOND host family lived in the country, and she said she learned a lot about rural life, especially about animals. She also learned how to cross-country ski and how to knit, a popular hobby with German girls and women.

But one of her greatest learning experiences came when Brown crossed the Berlin Wall at Checkpoint Charlie into communist East Berlin.

"It was scary to see all those people and on every corner see military machine guns," she said.

"The first time I was there I thought I'd never come back. It opened my eyes to see how other people live."

REMINISCING about her 11-month stay in West Germany is Cynthia Brown of Granite City. Brown, 17, a senior at Granite City High School, was an exchange student through Rotary International.

The lifestyle of the German teenager is also somewhat different than in America, she said. Many of the teens go to bars, she said, since the drinking age in Germany is 16.

"THEY DON'T drink to get drunk," she said.

The youths also attend shows and go to cafes to drink tea, Brown added.

The only thing she didn't like about Germany was the weather.

"It rained a lot," she said.

THOUGH SHE ENJOYED her time in Germany, she is glad to be home.

"I had to pinch myself to believe I was home," Brown said. "Slowly I'm getting back to family life here."

But someday she wants to go back.

"I'd love to go back and visit friends and my host families."

"She wrote to me every week," said Brown's mother, Frances.

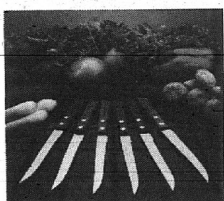

"She's seen so many things she would never have been able to see."

'Loud' party ends in arrests

A number of young people, attending a party at 3222b Klammer Drive, allegedly were found in closets when an officer checked the residence upon receiving complaints at 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

After shutting down the party and sending between 10 and 15 young people home, the officer said he warned John K. Lehr, 17, of that address, not to start the party again.

Returning to the same house at 2:10 a.m. Saturday, the officer alleged seeing a girl run back inside the apartment through the front door and another girl stick her head out of a window. He could hear people running inside the house and a voice telling someone to hide and keep quiet, the officer alleged.

No one answered the door when the officer knocked, so he directed a light through a window and alleged that someone hit his arm. When a man inside the house began swearing, the officer crawled through the window and was struck on the head with a hand. He wrestled the person to the floor, the officer said.

Philip L. Wilson, 27, of 5 Victoria Drive, Pontoon Beach, was charged with resisting arrest, battery, contributing to the delinquency of a minor and maintaining a public nuisance.

Lehr and two girls, 16 and 15 years old, were found hiding in closets and Lehr was arrested and charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and maintaining a public nuisance. The girls were released to their fathers.

Four other people inside the house apparently pushed open a window screen and fled on foot.

THE LAW AND YOU

People involved in a personal injury claim sometimes name more than one defendant in the lawsuit. If they settle with one of the parties, the question then arises as to whether that also releases the other party as well. Illinois law now provides that when a release is given to one person, it does not discharge any other person from liability for the injury unless the release itself specifically provides for this. Thus, the language of the release itself is controlling in these situations.

In one recent case, the plaintiff fell on ice and sustained a fractured arm and leg. She was treated by a physician for these injuries, and she later filed suit against the property owner for negligently maintaining his property and the doctor for malpractice. She subsequently settled with the property owner and signed a document which released "all other persons... from any and all claims... resulting from the accident." The question arose as to whether the signing of this release with the property owner warranted a dismissal of the case against the physician.

For the physician to prevail in this matter, he would first have to show that his alleged negligent treatment merely aggravated the original injury instead of resulting in a new and separate injury. Under Illinois law, the property owner would be liable for both the original injury and any aggravation of that injury caused by a physician's negligent treatment. If the injured party here was merely alleging that the physician's treatment aggravated the already existing condition, the release of the property owner could also release the physician. The second thing the physician would have to demonstrate in order to have the case against him dismissed would be that the release signed by the plaintiff had language which would be sufficient to release all parties named in the original lawsuit.

In this particular case, the Appellate Court determined that the same fractured leg bone was affected by both the doctor's alleged negligence and the original property owner's act. Thus, the physician's alleged negligent treatment merely aggravated the original injury. There was not a new and separate injury created by the physician's alleged malpractice. With regard to the release itself, the language was general enough to release both the property owner and the doctor. Therefore, when the plaintiff signed the release in settlement of the case against the property owner, this also served to release the physician.

SIU approves program plan

The SIU Board of Trustees approved guidelines to develop the fiscal year 1988 Resource Allocation and Management Program (RAMP) for submission to the Illinois Board of Higher Education. The action was taken Thursday at the School of Dental Medicine campus in Alton.

The guidelines include increases of 12 to 16 percent for salaries, 4 percent for general price items, 5 percent for telecommunications, 6 percent for utilities, and 12 percent for library materials. The plan also specifies projected funding needed to operate and maintain new spaces: $77,900 for SIUE and $667,900 for the SIU School of Medicine in Springfield.

The proposed operating budget would result in approximately a 13.3 percent increase over the fiscal 1987 base that was projected at $205.1 million for the SIU System.

Applying the decision rules would result in a budget request for new operating funds for SIUE of $7.5 million, or an increase of 13.03 percent; for SIU at Carbondale of $18.9 million, or 13.11 percent; and for the System Office of $668,700, or 38.10 percent.

This year's guidelines include new and expanded/improved programs and three special requests: $886,100 for replacement of outdated equipment at the School of Medicine; $200,000 for the first phase of a comprehensive office automation equipment implementation plan in the Office of the Chancellor; and $300,000 for the first year of a three-year project to develop a computer center serving the Carbondale, Edwardsville and Springfield campuses.

New and expanded/improved programs and special analytical study requests include $1.6 million for SIUE and $2.5 million for the Carbondale campus. These items were detailed in a separate resolution approved by the board.

University officers said adequate salary increases for faculty and staff would continue to be the top priority.

The plan will include funds necessary to meet projected inflation for fiscal 1988 and funds necessary to improve salaries relative to respective peer groups. Studies conducted by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE), the universities and the chancellor's staff indicate that sizable increases are needed if faculty and staff are to be paid at rates comparable to their respective counterparts at other universities and units of state government.

The proposed salary increase is 12 percent for faculty and 12 percent for all other employees except civil service personnel at the School of Medicine, for whom 16 percent is recommended.

The final RAMP request for the SIU system is expected to be submitted to the board for approval at the September meeting of the trustees, on the Carbondale campus. It is scheduled for presentation to the IBHE on Oct. 1.

It was late August of 1984 and the Madison gymnasium was a sweat box, holding the heat like a sauna.

Rodney Watson had just been named the new Madison High School basketball coach, a position he has since left to move to the college ranks. Dressed in gray shorts and a striped shirt, Watson was watching a pickup game and making mental notes to himself.

He was only 24. Some thought he might be too young to be the coach of a school so rich in basketball tradition. After all he was hired to replace Larry Graham who won more than 300 games and two state championships at Madison.

Watson never let the situation get the best of him. "I'm sure there will be pressure," he said. "But that's good. It's a healthy situation and can only make you better."

That first season was something special. The Trojans finished 22-8 and advanced to the Elite Eight at Champaign.

"I'm living a dream," Watson said at Assembly Hall. "This is what I wanted to do all along. I've dreamed of coming here (to the state finals) since the day of my first interview."

Chrisman, a city located just 13 miles from where Watson grew up in Paris, beat Madison in the quarterfinals.

While defeat was bitter, Watson seemed pleased with the initial goal. "Just to get here, just to know that you have coached one of the eight best teams in Illinois is quite a thrill," he said.

And Watson enjoyed every minute of it. After the sectional win in Vandalia, Watson made a point of looking at the sectional trophy. "Hey, that's nice. I've never seen one of them before."

While answering questions, he was like a kid in the candy store. "It's a little new at this," he joked to reporters. "But I sure could get used to it."

Watson was a different coach than Graham. But he was successful. In two seasons he posted a 96-19 record at Madison. His players called him the "Great White Hope." The Madison players are black and Watson is white.

He was a very enthusiastic coach and one who demanded discipline from his players. Unlike, Graham whose approach was low-keyed. Still, Watson got results.

Watson came to Madison from Coulterville High School where he coached that team to its first 20-win season and first regional title.

A former guard in high school, Watson often showed off his ball handling skills in the annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes game in November.

This year, Watson's Trojans were both good and bad. They looked lifeless when they were routed by Granite City in the Collinsville tournament. By contrast, they looked great against Lebanon when they scored 20 straight points in the fourth quarter to rally for a win.

To be sure, Watson has left his mark on the Trojans' program. "There has already been a transition," Watson said. "But really was the hard part. I don't think it will be that difficult for someone new."

While Watson has mixed emotions while leaving Madison, he feels it is a professional step he must take. He knows he has been very fortunate in his four years of coaching.

"The good Lord must have a plan for me," he said at the 1985 state tournament. "He's taken pretty good care of me so far. I feel pretty lucky."

Rodney Watson would agree, the statement still applies.

The quest for gold has begun as the third annual Prairie State Games take center stage at the University of Illinois in Champaign.

Opening ceremonies, including a fireworks display, were held Wednesday evening at Memorial Stadium. Rafer Johnson, the 1960 Olympic gold medal decathlon winner, gave the keynote address.

Competition in 17 different sports will be held through Sunday at several sites throughout the Champaign-Urbana area. Granite City will be represented by 27 athletes who will compete in the games.

In addition, two Granite City natives will serve as coaches. Ruben Mendoza will coach the open women's soccer team and Russ Buam will coach the scholastic men's wrestling team. Other area coaches who will lead their squads include SIUE's Larry Graham and Collinsville coaches Jim Stranz (soccer) and Bob Bone (basketball).

Soccer, the southern region's strong point, will feature the most Granite City athletes — 20. Last year, the scholastic and open men's team won gold medals. And the open women's team advanced to the title match, but fell in overtime. In all, more than 300 Region 8 athletes took part in the tryouts held earlier in the year.

Among the local participants are:

• GCHS student Maria Moslander, scholastic women's athletics (track and field).

• Tim Hogan, scholastic men's basketball.

• David Baker, scholastic men's swimming; Patti Martin and Kelly Reed, scholastic women's swimming.

• Christina Boyd, scholastic women's volleyball.

• Paul Brandt, scholastic men's freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling.

• Open Men's Soccer: Rich Moore, David Paz and Tony Segobiano.

• Open Women's Soccer: Patricia Atkinson, Jennifer Boyer, Susan Buenger, Laura James, Chris Kessler, Maria Parra and Dawn Schwartz.

• Scholastic Men's Soccer: Scott Biason, Jim Chomko and Jeff Tanner.

• Scholastic Women's Soccer: Mary DeRuntz, Laura Goodman, Julie Macios, Angie Moore, Sheila Noel, Rebecca Whitehead and Tammy Wroten.

Outside the immediate area, the Southern Region will be represented with athletes who have garnered many of honors.

Doris Carie of Teutopolis High School was Miss Basketball for 1986. Judy Johnson is an AAU champion gymnast. Susan Brennan was Missouri Valley Conference singles and doubles tennis champion at Drake University; weightlifter Derrick Cross was a member of the 1984 U.S. Olympic team; and David Marlow was a Pan-American Cadet Freestyle wrestling champion.

At last year's games, Patti Martin won two gold medals in the 50 and 100-meter butterfly events. Boyd, a graduate of SIU-Carbondale, helped her volleyball team to a silver medal.

The first competition will be to begin at 8 a.m. today with soccer and volleyball. The last competition will be held on Sunday morning.

EAST ALTON — It had to happen sooner or later.

The Granite City Optimists baseball team, which has been scoring runs in bunches most of the year, finally was shut down Tuesday night.

Not that they didn't have chances to score their usual quota. With six hits, eight walks, an error and a handful of wild pitches and passed balls, the Optimists could only come up with a pair of runs in a 4-2 loss to East Alton in a big game in the Metro East Junior League Division 3 standings.

For the Optimists, 17-3, it was their first loss in division play. They are 5-1 in the division, while East Alton, 11-3, also has only one division loss, a 1-0 decision at Granite City June 19.

In that one, Darin Hendrickson pitched a two-hit shutout and Charlie Collins provided the offense with a first-inning homer. But Hendrickson took the loss this time, although he was the victim of some shaky defense in one inning and a lack of clutch hitting in almost every inning.

"We're going to go back to the batting cages for a couple of days," said Optimists coach Carl Benson. "We just haven't hit the ball at all the last three games. But I guess we had to expect that at some time after the way we had been hitting."

Although Granite City had scores of baserunners during the game, it wasn't because of their bats. Four of their six hits were on the infield and East Alton starter Scott Harper was wild, walking eight.

And after the Optimists failed to get more than one run in the first two innings, despite having the bases loaded in both frames, East Alton finally broke through with two outs in the third for three unearned runs.

"With all these injuries we have, we're forced to play some guys out of position," Benson said. "So we get a couple of misplays and we lose the game."

Kirk Mills, Collins and Mike Georff all walked in the opening inning, but Harper would have been out of the inning were it not

Hot Triplets cool off Troy

By Liz Stark
Correspondent

COLLINSVILLE — The heat of Wednesday was not just in the temperature.

Tri-City Post 113 was also hot on the field as they went on to win their first North Division playoff game, 8-3, against Troy Post 708.

Troy started things off with Glen Scott getting a double up the middle. Although Erric Gray looked good in getting the next two batters out, third baseman Phil Helf hit a double right past Gray to bring in Scott and give Troy an early 1-0 lead.

Tri-City quickly tied the game in the bottom of the first.

Jamie Hogan kept the heat on with a single and moved to third on an error by Todd Weiss. Todd Hinterser then hit a hard single to right field to bring in Hogan. Hinterser stole second and advanced to third on a single by Scott LeVault. LeVault stole second, but as Hinterser broke for the plate, he was forced into a rundown which was fatal and resulted in the second out for the Triplets. Darin Hendrickson fanned to end the inning.

Troy took the lead again in the second. All was going Gray's way until he walked Mark Lambert. Bill Scholmer hit a hard double to left field which really mixed up Fred Becker. Playing in a tough sun field, he moved to the left and the ball went to the right. It brought in Lambert to make the score 2-1.

Gray was not only strong on the mound for the Triplets. He proved that pitchers can hit by starting a rally for the Triplets in the second inning. He singled past the shortstop to lead off the inning. It was Steve Sitton, receiving a sign to bunt, didn't listen. Instead, he homered to right field to give the score 3-2. Gray walked in the third and scored on an RBI single by Jamie Hogan. Hogan then stole second, but was left stranded.

The Triplets added two more runs in the sixth inning to take an 8-2 lead. Jamie Hogan smacked a long double and then stole third. Hinterser tripled to tie the game.

Hogan and Becker drove Hinterser in with a hit. Becker showed he hasn't lost any speed as he stole second, but he was left out. Troy didn't give up hope and scored a run in the seventh, but it didn't help.

With the win, the Triplets will play Collinsville tonight at Fletcher Field. Post 365 beat Bethalto in another first round game. The winner will advance into the double elimination round to decide the North Division champion.

The Collinsville-Granite City winner will play the North Division champion, either Edwardsville or Alton, in the first game of that round Saturday.

GRANITE CITY — It's usually the parents who steer their kids into new things.

For Don Deterding, it was his children who attracted him to his latest job — as volleyball coach.

Robin Deterding, who recently graduated from medical school, help lead the Warriors to their only berth in the state finals in 1976.

Another daughter, Dawn, prep'd at Triad High School and played college volleyball at Illinois Central and at Granite City Campus.

Don Deterding, the long-time head basketball coach at Granite City High School, replaces Wilma Schulze as the Warriors' head volleyball coach.

All of the extra-curricular assignments were approved by the school board at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

"Don's daughters are awfully good volleyball players," said Greg Patton, District 9's athletic director. "So Don has followed the sport for many years and he is very knowledgeable in that area."

"As far as official coaching experience in the sport, he doesn't have any. But he worked a lot with his daughters, and we feel very comfortable with him in this position. John Hutchings (girls basketball coach) will be assisting him, and he has worked with most of the girls before."

Schulze resigned in December, after the Warriors were eliminated in the regionals at Edwardsville.

"I approached Don about the opening shortly after Wilma resigned," Patton said. "He had some questions, and it took some time because I'm not all that familiar with coaching the girls sports, either. But we talked again after the basketball season and we were pretty sure he was going to do it then."

"Don's a great coach. And if you can coach, you don't want to waste that talent. I know he's looking forward to it."

Other new head coaches for the 1986-87 school year include Allen Lobdell for boys tennis and Gary Morgan for girls tennis. They replace Dick Harmon, who had coached both boys and girls.

"Gary had been the girls coach before," Patton said. "So we know what he can do. We're pretty well set with all of our coaches for the fall and winter seasons."

NOTES: Patton himself has taken on some added responsibilities since the retirement of Joe Fedora last month. In addition to being the athletic director at the high school, he is also doing some work with athletics at the junior high schools.

"It's a little more responsibility," Patton said. "I hadn't worked with the junior high programs before." Gary Sikora is the director of secondary education for the district and is handling duties pertaining to physical education for the high school and junior high schools. Rich Brinkhoff handles those duties at the elementary level.

Public meeting July 20

All elected Madison city officials have been invited to participate in a public meeting Sunday, July 20, at 2 p.m. at the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh Street and Lee Avenue. Reports of recent council meetings have indicated financial problems, but one alderman who has been on the finance committee for the past four years says the previous administration always had a balanced budget, meeting organizers said. One added, "If there were a balanced budget, no explanation has been given why a write-off of $314,000 and other fund replenishments had to be made." The present administration has had a year in office and half of the aldermen are in the final year of their current terms; the meeting will allow citizens to hear what has been done and what is planned for the future, said L. "Pat" Patterson, president of Madison Concerned Citizens.

Our organization is to provide information to the people of Madison, and the meeting will provide an opportunity for officials to explain the situation to the people. There will be ample space and fewer stairs at the Recreation Center. The location of council meetings makes it hard for some people to attend," Patterson said. "We are obligated for payments on the fire truck for four more years and it is too large to go into the alleys. The old one that was so worn out is still in use." The previous administration also had purchased a garbage truck that had to be paid for in the most recent fiscal year and it, too, cannot enter alleys to reach the garbage. Expenditures without deriving the use—creating financial problems—need explaining, Patterson said.

Golden anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. Sigite

A buffet dinner and reception was given at the Party Time Reception Hall, 1820 Cleveland Blvd., for Mr. and Mrs. John Sigite of Granite City to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Guests were received from 4 to 8 p.m. by the honorees. They were escorted in a limousine driven by Vasil Eltimoff from their home to each residence they lived in during their married life.

At each address, a large sign was erected noting their time of residence. After the tour, they arrived at the anniversary party, hosted by their three children, Randall Sigite and Connie Cornelison, both of Granite City, and Mindi Haughey of Vancouver, Wash.

Mr. Sigite and his wife, the former Minnie Cross, were married June 27, 1936, at Second Baptist Church in Granite City, with the Rev. Charles Recklein officiating.

Mr. Sigite was employed at General Steel Industries for 35 years and then worked through Laborers Local 397 for 10 years prior to his retirement. Mrs. Sigite was a Madison County probation officer for 30 years and has retired from that position.

2 Timothy 4:17 ... "Notwithstanding the Lord was with me, and strengthened me."

The testimony of the Apostle Paul is without a doubt one of the greatest in the world. Here is a man totally opposed to God and strictly devoted to his own form of religion. God reveals himself to Paul on the road to Damascus and he then turns around and opposes his former religion and gives himself completely to God. In fact, Paul counts all things loss that he might gain Christ.

When Paul started for God, he never turned back against Him. He sacrificed much, he suffered much, yet he remained faithful.

God rewarded Paul for his steadfastness. By Paul's own word, "The Lord was with me and strengthened me." Could we ask for more than this?

God will be with you. He will strengthen you. Make your total commitment to Him.

Stock up medicine chest for first-aid

Take a look at your medicine cabinet. Chances are, it's crowded. You might feel you have more bottles, bandages and first-aid supplies than your local store. How do you decide what should stay?

There are several first-aid essentials you should keep around the house, said Mike Roets, a nationwide retail drug chain spokesman.

"Common sense will help you handle most emergencies, but it pays to be prepared. The time to run out and buy adhesive strip bandages is not after you cut your finger," Roets said. "It may be worth a pound of cure when an accident occurs."

Roets suggested the following essentials for any medicine cabinet:

- First-aid or poison control chart, available from most drugstores and any hospital. There's a space to write in your doctor's phone number, as well as the number for the nearest poison control center (open around the clock to help in emergencies).

- Aspirin or acetaminophen to reduce pain or fever.

- Syrup of ipecac, sometimes recommended when an accidental poisoning occurs. Ipecac is taken with water to cause vomiting. There are instances where ipecac is not advisable—consult your poison control center or first-aid chart.

- Fever thermometer, either the traditional glass type or the newer ones with digital readouts.

- Adhesive strip bandages for small wounds.

- Sterile gauze for compresses to stop larger wounds from bleeding; gauze is also good for making bandages to cover larger wounds.

- Adhesive tape to secure gauze in place.

- Antibiotic cream or ointment to put on minor wounds (don't use it on wounds that have stitches).

- Look for ingredients like neomycin sulfate, bacitracin, and polymyxin B sulfate. In addition to careful washing of a wound, antibiotic ointment can help prevent infection and inflammation.

- "Scratches, cuts and other small wounds are best treated by wiping gently with a clean, wet cloth with soap, and then thoroughly rinsing under running cold water," recommended Roets.

- If the wound is liable to get dirty, you should cover it with a bandage.

- Of course, when cleaning a wound, you should remove dirt, gravel, glass or other debris which can cause infection. "If water isn't enough, you can lift out bits of debris with tweezers—to sterilize, wipe the tweezers with alcohol first," said Roets.

- In addition to tweezers (good for removing slivers, too), and rubbing alcohol, you might want to include some of these items in your first-aid kit:

- Elastic bandage for taping up sprains.

- Butterfly bandages, used for "medium-sized" cuts in place of stitches to pull the edges of the wound together.

- Ice/hot water bag for sprains, etc.

- Hydrogen peroxide to disinfect wounds.

- A small bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia to revive someone who's fainted (or who's about to faint).

- Fresh bottle of distilled water to rinse out eyes or wounds.

- First-aid book to describe more elaborate first-aid procedures. Many of these books recommend storing a 48x48 inch clean cloth square for bandages, 1x3 foot wood splints to immobilize an arm or leg after an accident, and tongue depressors for finger splints.

- "Common sense is the best thing to keep in your first-aid kit—you should know what you can handle," Roets said.

- If a wound is deep, wide or ragged, or if you can't get all debris out, see your doctor.

- "Deep wounds or puncture wounds should be shown or described to a physician as soon as possible if they were caused by a dirty object outdoors. Always have animal bites checked out."

- "Most minor cuts and scrapes heal quickly, but if the wound becomes red, swollen or painful—or fails to heal within a week or so—seek professional help."

Droplets may be big advance in easing pain

Packaging anesthetic drugs in microscopic "envelopes" for a longer-lasting effect in patients—a revolutionary technology devised by scientists at the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) and University of Miami—is being commercially developed by Anaquest, a division of the $3.5-billion BOC Group.

The firm's immediate application of the method will involve manufacture of methoxyflurane as a local anesthetic that physicians can inject in patients to alleviate pain following surgery. However, under its agreement with Pharmalogic Corp.—the company founded by the UIC and Miami scientists—Anaquest will maintain rights to use the technology generally with other analgesic and anesthetic drugs.

The technology, known as microdroplet encapsulation, involves encapsulating drug particles in microscopic "envelopes" that resemble the membranes of human cells and are injected in a patient.

The drug, instead of being released quickly into the bloodstream, slowly leaks through the walls of the envelopes, causing a sustained effect in the immediate area of the injection.

Researchers Anthony Kirkpatrick, an anesthesiologist at the University of Illinois College of Medicine at Chicago, and Duncan Haynes, a pharmacologist at the University at Miami pioneered the breakthrough.

They successfully packaged droplets of methoxyflurane in the had been a gas used as a general anesthetic for surgery into a local anesthetic whose effects can last several days with a single injection.

The longest acting regional anesthetic currently in use generally remains effective for only about four hours.

Their discovery not only provides physicians with an advanced, inexpensive method for relieving patients' chronic pain or the pain that accompanies surgery or trauma without hindering the healing of the wound, but has wide-ranging implications for the entire field of pharmacology.

If various drugs can be packaged and injected into patients in a fashion similar to methoxyflurane with the same long-term effects, the results could be improved drug therapies for cancer, inflammatory disorders and other conditions, the scientists said.

In fact, experts familiar with the new technology indicate that it might be applicable with up to one-third of the drugs listed in the "Physician's Desk Reference."

A recent announcement by the U.S. Patent Office that it will issue a patent for the technology has opened the way for Pharmalogic Corp. to begin negotiations with other companies to formulate additional applications of the technology to the medical field.

The technique works by adding sugar water and lecithin to a lipid-soluble drug and then agitating the mixture with sound waves.

Lecithin is a lipid, a substance that is found in human tissues and serves as an important component in the membrane structure of cells. The sound waves provide the energy required to cause the lecithin to create a membrane-line envelope around droplets of the drug.

The inability of the drug to escape from its package too quickly after injection prevents damage to cells and a toxic buildup of the drug in the tissues and bloodstream.

Haynes, with the support of a five-year grant from the state of Florida's High Technology and Industry Council, will investigate use of the microdroplet technique for cancer chemotherapy and anti-inflammatory drugs.

Both researchers will be looking at combining anesthetics with other pharmaceuticals such as antibiotics and anti-inflammatory agents to target multiple effects where needed in a patient's body.

Suresh Ralapati, a senior research scientist specializing in membrane biochemistry, has joined Pharmalogic to provide quality control testing using sophisticated methods like nuclear magnetic resonance, infrared and gas spectrometry and laser particle technology.

Anaquest, based in Madison, Wis., is a leader in the manufacture of pharmaceuticals for the anesthesiologist. The firm expects to begin soon the testing of a microdroplet drug administration with methoxyflurane in patients who have undergone surgery. Because methoxyflurane does not seem to slow the rate of healing, it can be injected directly into the surgical incision, giving hours of pain relief.

"Patients who have had abdominal surgery need to breathe deeply to avoid developing pneumonia, but postoperative pain makes it difficult to heed this advice," Kirkpatrick stated. "If we could give them long-lasting relief with one injection of methoxyflurane, they could take deep breaths without discomfort and greatly reduce the risks of dangerous side effects like pneumonia."

Injectable methoxyflurane may someday prove useful on the battlefield or at emergency sites as a way to abate the suffering of the wounded—a potential that has caught the attention of the U.S. Defense Department.

Parks pan recreation olympics

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — For the first time in several years, youths participating in the Granite City Park District's summer recreation program will gather together July 22 for a day of fun and competition.

The event, called the Recreation Olympics, will be the "grand finale" to the summer program, said Edna Pyle, coordinator. Children from five recreation sites will compete in six different events in each age division. Awards and prizes will be given to individual event winners and one for the overall team winner. This event will give children who normally don't compete in athletics a chance to win an event," Pyle said. "The kids are looking forward to it."

Pyle said the olympics are the first of their kind in more than three years in the Park District. "Each year the program has its own name and colors," Pyle said. "I hope the parents think about letting their children participate in the olympics."

Among the activities planned are a balloon release and competitive activities. Age divisions are for children (Mites); 9-10 (Midgets); and 11 and older (Juniors).

Mites will compete in a beanbag toss, ring toss, clothespin drop, potato sack race, bounce and balloon walk.

Midgets will compete in the balloon walk, bowling, horseshoes, potato sack race and flying saucer game. Juniors will compete in badminton, a balloon walk, horseshoes, potato sack race and croquet.

Children are asked to assemble in designated areas at 8:30 p.m. on Monday, July 22, at 8:30 p.m. at Wilson Park. "There are going to be a lot of children participating if the parents are willing to come," Pyle said.
